Report on activities of Nobody's Children Foundation in 2007

Mission of Nobody's Children Foundation

The Nobody's Children Foundation is a non-governmental non-profit organization working toward the goals of protecting children from abuse and providing help for abused children, their families, and their caregivers. The facilities run by the Foundation offer psychological, medical, and legal help to victims of abuse and their caregivers. We act for the improvement of the situation of children participating in legal procedures as witnesses. We run preventive programmes for reducing child abuse by adults and peers, i.e. programme for combating threats to children on the Internet and support programme for parents experiencing bringing-up difficulties. We organize specialized training programmes addressing the problem of child abuse for various groups of professionals and for interdisciplinary teams. We conduct research and analyses to expand the knowledge about the problem of child abuse and to provide basis for our activities.

History of Nobody's Children Foundation's selected activities

1991

The Nobody's Children Foundation is registered in Warsaw on the initiative of Alina Margolis-Edelman, the representative of the Medecins du Monde (Doctors of the World) mission in Poland.

1992-93

The Foundation carries out research programmes in Warsaw to determine the scale and nature of the problem of child abuse. The findings – which suggest that Polish professionals lack competence both in diagnosing child abuse and in helping children and their families – provide the basis for the Foundation's strategy in the years to follow.

1993

The Foundation publishes its first educational materials on children's rights and the problem of child abuse. In the subsequent years the publishing programme continues and develops. The Foundation publishes leaflets, brochures, posters, and books addressed to children, parents, and professionals.

The first training programme for school guidance counsellors from Warsaw schools is launched. In the years that follow the Foundation's training programmes are attended by thousands of professionals representing various professional groups: police officers, judges, prosecutors, psychologists, social workers, teachers, medical doctors, nurses, and others.

1996

In cooperation with Medecins du Monde the Foundation launches two specialized institutions for abused children and their families: Child and Family Centre and „Pociecha” Centre. Both centres provide psychological and legal help for children, parents and caretakers, as well as for professionals who intervene in child abuse cases.

The newly opened Child and Family Centre offers the first child-friendly interviewing room in Poland.

The Foundation publishes the first Polish book on the problem of child abuse, Dziecko krzywdzone. Próba opisu zjawiska (Abused Child: Attempt to Describe the Problem).

1997-2001

The Foundation joins the “Abused Child” programme carried out in Eastern Europe by the Open Society Institute. Within the programme, representatives of the Foundation's team enhance their competence during training sessions run by American and European experts. In Poland the Foundation organizes two international conferences for child gynaecologists (1999) and social workers (2000) from the participant countries.

2001-2002

In cooperation with the State Agency for Prevention of Alcohol Related Problems and the “Blue Line” – the National Hotline for Victims of Domestic Violence, the Foundation carries out a social campaign Childhood without Violence.

2001

Within the Foundation's research programme the first national study on the prevalence of child abuse in Poland is designed and conducted in cooperation with a leading public opinion research company, OBOP.

2002

The first issue of the Foundation's quarterly Dziecko krzywdzone. Teoria, badania, praktyka (Abused Child: Theory, Research, and Practice) is published.

2002-2003

The Foundation carries out a programme Child Under the Umbrella of Law, aimed primarily at promoting the idea of child-friendly interview rooms and protecting child victims.

2003

The “Mazowiecka” Child Advocacy Centre is launched in Warsaw, offering child-friendly settings for prosecution and court interviews, as well as therapeutic and legal assistance to child victims of crime. The “Pociecha” Centre is closed.

The Foundation organizes the IXth ISPCAN Conference on Child Abuse and Neglect: Promoting Interdisciplinary Approaches to Child Protection. The Conference is attended by 700 professionals from 70 countries, including 200 from Poland.

The first Polish research into children's risky behaviours on the Internet is conducted. The findings concerning threats to children on the Web form the basis for the launch and development of the Foundation's programme Keeping Children Safe Online.

2004

Two social campaigns are launched:

- Child on the Web – targeted at adults and children in order to raise their awareness of threats related to paedophiles' activity on the Internet.
- Child: Witness with Special Needs – targeted at prosecutors, judges, police officers, psychology expert witnesses, and politicians.

The Foundation is appointed the Polish Competence Centre in the area of child abuse and begins to perform the role of the National Contact Point for Unaccompanied and Trafficked Children within a programme of the Working Group for Cooperation on Children at Risk in the Baltic Sea Region.

The 1st National Conference on Helping Child Victims of Crime is organized by the Foundation, in collaboration with the Office of the Capital City of Warsaw and the Ministry of Justice. The Conference is attended by 600 professionals from all over Poland.

2005

The Foundation launches a five-year programme Childhood without Abuse: Toward a Better Child Protection System in Eastern Europe in seven East European countries. The main goal of the programme is to develop a system of helping abused children in the region.

A new awareness-raising campaign begins – Children Are Not for Sale – addressed to boarder guards, police officers and social workers.

Within a European programme, Safer Internet Action Plan, the Awareness project is launched in Poland, aimed at reducing threats to children on the Web. The Foundation becomes its national coordinator.

The 2nd National Conference on Helping Child Victims of Crime is held.

2006

The Child Victim Advocate project – targeted at children's parents and caregivers – is inaugurated.

During summer holidays the Sieciaki (Web Kids) on Holiday project is carried out across Poland.

The second stage of Child on the Web – a media and education campaign concerning children's safety on the Internet – is carried out.

Within the Childhood without Abuse: Toward a Better Child Protection System in Eastern Europe programme, a social campaign Childhood without Violence is implemented in Lithuania, Latvia, Ukraine, Bulgaria, Macedonia, and Moldova.

The 3rd National Conference on Helping Child Victims of Crime is held.

2007

The second stage of Child: Witness with Special Needs – a media and education campaign focusing on children who participate in legal procedures – is carried out. The first stage of the campaign is implemented in other countries of Central and Eastern Europe.

The Coalition for Child-Friendly Interviewing is formed.

Within the Sieciaki on Holiday project educational picnics are organized in Warsaw and in several sea resorts.

The media campaign focusing on the problem of child abuse – See It, Hear It, Say It – is launched.

The 4th National Conference on Helping Child Victims of Crime is held.

The 1st International Conference Keeping Children and Young People Safe Online is organized.

Institutions helping abused children and their families

In 2007 the Nobody's Children Foundation run two institutions in Warsaw providing services for abused children and their families: "Mazowiecka" Child Advocacy Centre and Child and Family Centre.

"Mazowiecka" Child Advocacy Centre

00-048 Warszawa, ul. Mazowiecka 12/25,
tel. (22) 826 88 62, mazowiecka@fdn.pl

Child and Family Centre

03-926 Warszawa, ul. Walecznych 59,
tel. (22) 616 16 69, walecznych@fdn.pl

The Child and Family Centre, launched in 1996, provides help services for abused children and their families, as well as for professionals dealing with child abuse cases in one of Warsaw districts – Praga Południe. In 2008 the Centre's services were expanded to include support for parents with children under 3 who experience difficulties related to the parental role or have problems with providing proper care and child-rearing for their young child.

The "Mazowiecka" Child Advocacy Centre, established in March 2003, is a specialized institution pursuing the goals of applying and promoting innovative (in the Polish reality) ways of dealing with cases of crimes against children. The Centre operates in collaboration with the Ministry of Justice, the Ministry of Internal Affairs and Administration, and Warsaw institutions reporting to both ministries. It offers a child-friendly place for court interviews.

The Foundation's centres undertake crisis interventions in cases involving crimes against children, particularly sexual and physical abuse. Children and members of their families are offered free psychological and legal assistance (consultations, therapy, and support groups). Both centres' employees initiate, support, and consult the activities of professionals who deal with cases of child abuse. They develop forensic psychological opinions for courts and prosecutors' offices across Poland; they act as court experts or witnesses in cases involving crimes against children.

In 2007 the Foundation's centres accepted 153 first-time reports of children and 218 reports of adults. Out of this number, the centres provided regular care for 124 children and 135 members of their families.

Throughout 2007 the centres provided:

- 1251 diagnostic and therapeutic sessions with children;
- 1108 diagnostic and therapeutic sessions with parents and caregivers;
- 448 psychiatric consultations;
- 454 legal consultations for caregivers and professionals;
- 829 psychological, pedagogical, and legal consultations for professionals working with children;
- 51 forensic psychological assessments of children;
- 176 prosecution and court interviews.

The “Mazowiecka” Child Advocacy Centre organizes training and supervision sessions for professionals working with abused children. It hosts regular meetings of the Psychology Expert Club, attended by psychologists acting as expert witnesses in cases involving crimes against children. Moreover, the Centre provides regular supervisions for interdisciplinary teams working in the Praga Południe district. Since 2007 professionals from the “Mazowiecka” Child Advocacy Centre have contributed to the implementation of the curriculum at the Medical University in Warsaw. So far the Centre has hosted 12 seminar and workshop sessions for students of the 5th and 6th year of the Medical Faculty.

In 2007 12 students of psychology and pedagogy completed internships at the Centre.

Child Victim Advocate

The Nobody's Children Foundation has carried out the Child Victim Advocate programme since 2005. The goal of the programme is to improve the situation of children who have been victimized and who participate in legal procedures, such as interviews and court trials. The programme is targeted at child victims' parents and caregivers, who are provided with information on relevant legal regulations, the scope of competence of the police, the prosecutor, and the court, as well as interviewing procedures. They may also choose to be accompanied by the advocate in the courtroom. Child witnesses are offered psychological support and are prepared for interviews. The programme assumes that child victims and their families/caregivers should be supported throughout the legal process – from the moment of the case being reported to the Foundation, through the trial and psychological treatment, to the resolution of the crisis situation. Each case handled within the programme is documented.

Since 2006 a telephone helpline has been operated within the programme, whereby trained volunteers – supervised by lawyers and psychologists – provide information about the victim's rights and help to determine what kind of assistance is needed by the child and his/her parent. Moreover, information brochures and leaflets promoting the programme have been distributed among police stations, prosecutor's offices, and courts. In 2007, in collaboration with partner organizations from Szczecin, Grudziądz, and Białystok, the Child Victim Advocate programme was launched in these three towns. Employees and volunteers working for the partner organizations were trained before launching telephone helplines and consulting services for child victims' caregivers in the towns participating in the programme.

Another way to support crime victims and help them in the effective execution of their rights is through voluntary representatives and accompanying persons participating in criminal and civil procedures. As a voluntary representative, the Foundation has the right to speak up during the trial, to make written statements, and to be present in the court room.

4th NATIONAL CONFERENCE Helping Child Victims of Crime, Warsaw, 26–27 November 2007

For the fourth consecutive time, the Nobody's Children Foundation, the Ministry of Justice, and the Office of the Capital City of Warsaw organized the national conference Helping Child Victims of Crime. It was held on 26–27 November, in the Palace of Culture and Science in Warsaw, under the honorary patronage of the Minister of Justice and the President of the Capital City of Warsaw.

The conference focused on helping children who have experienced various forms of violence and abuse, as well as protecting children who participate in legal procedures. The conference was attended by a broad range of professionals helping child victims of crime, such as judges, prosecutors, probation officers, psychologists – court experts, personnel of help and care institutions, and representatives of NGOs working with child victims of crime.

The conference program included plenary sessions, lectures, and group workshops. Conference speakers – Polish and foreign experts – presented model solutions related to preventing offences against children, as well as the latest research findings and theories concerning child abuse. Projects and initiatives designed to provide practical help for child victims and their families were also presented, as well as professional publications in this area.

The Conference was financed by:

- Office of the Capital City of Warsaw
– Social Policy Bureau
- Ministry of Justice
- Civil Initiatives Fund

Psychology Expert Club

The Psychology Expert Club is a programme aimed at improving the competence of professionals who work with child victims and witnesses, as well as mental health professionals who develop expert forensic opinions in cases involving children.

The goal of the Psychology Expert Club is not only to raise the professional qualifications of psychologist, pedagogists, and psychiatrists, but also to provide opportunities for their collaboration and exchange of experience, and to consolidate the expert witnesses' community.

The Club members include professionals from all over Poland. Such a broad geographic reach has been achieved through a wide range of various forms of collaboration: monthly seminars and supervision sessions at the "Mazowiecka" Child Advocacy Centre, distribution of educational and awareness-raising publications, and making useful resources available at the www.dzieckoswiadek.pl website.

The Club was launched in October 2007. By the end of 2007 it had 77 registered members. In 2007 three meetings of the Club were held, focusing on issues such as legal regulations concerning the protection of children in criminal proceedings, professionals' dilemmas related to developing expert opinions in cases involving child victims and interviewing child witnesses, as well as psychological portraits of perpetrators of intrafamilial violence. In 2007 the Psychology Expert Club invited several outstanding guests, including professor John Myers of McGeorge School of Law at the University of the Pacific in Sacramento (California), judge Anna Wesołowska, and PhD Maria Gordon.

School of forensic psychological assessment in cases involving children

In October 2007 the first edition of the School of Forensic Psychological Assessment in Cases Involving Children was inaugurated. This training programme is attended by psychologists who act (or are going to act) as expert witnesses providing opinions in cases involving children. In accordance with the regulations of the Ministry of Justice, persons applying to be listed on the Expert Witness Register, have to show a certificate (or certificates) documenting their participation in specialist training. The programme was evaluated positively by experts of the Polish Psychological Association (PTP) and has been implemented in collaboration with PTP within the "PARTNER" project.

Campaign Child: Witness with Special Needs

In 2007 the Nobody's Children Foundation and the Ministry of Justice launched the second stage of the national campaign Child: Witness with Special Needs under the slogan: "Your Honour, I have the right not to be scared". The goal of the project is to sensitize professionals to the situation of a child witness in criminal proceedings.

The second edition of the campaign placed emphasis on the need to prepare the child comprehensively for appearing in court as a witness, as well as on improving the standard of the existing child interview rooms and initiating the development of new ones.

The campaign was targeted at professionals (judges, prosecutors, police officers, psychology court experts), as well as at parents and caregivers of child witnesses and other children participating in legal procedures.

Professionals were also the target group of training courses organized within the campaign and of two campaign publications: a manual by Alicja Budzyńska, Jak przesłuchiwać dziecko (How to Interview Children), targeted mainly at judges and psychologists who interview children; and a joint publication Przyjazne przesłuchanie dziecka (Child-Friendly Interviewing).

Another campaign publication was Będę świadkiem w sądzie (I'll Be a Witness in Court) – a guide targeted at child witnesses and members of their families, as well as people who prepare children and young people (ages 10–15) for court interviews.

In collaboration with the Ministry of Justice and the Coalition for Child-Friendly Interviewing the campaign publications were forwarded to all courts and prosecution offices in Poland, and to interested institutions and NGOs that run child-friendly interview rooms and provide support for child witnesses.

Koalicja na Rzecz Przyjaznego Przesłuchiwania Dzieci

Coalition for Child-Friendly Interviewing

On 22 February 2007 (the Victim Day), on the initiative of the Nobody's Children Foundation, the Coalition for Child-Friendly Interviewing was formed. Its goal is to support the idea of protecting the rights of children who participate in legal procedures. The Coalition works toward this goal through promoting and implementing the idea of friendly interviewing of child witnesses, through creating child-friendly interview rooms, and through improving the competence of professionals (judges, prosecutors, police officers, expert witnesses) who participate in legal interventions, interview children, and provide help for child victims.

The Coalition was joined by institutions and organizations supporting the idea of child-friendly interviewing through shaping relevant policies and promoting or undertaking actions to protect child witnesses. The Coalition members include: The Ministry of Justice, the National Police Headquarters, the Children's Ombudsman, the Ombudsman, courts, prosecution offices, police stations, local authority institutions and NGOs running child friendly interview rooms, as well as professionals who participate in legal procedures involving children. By the end of 2007 the Coalition had 190 members from all over Poland.

The first meeting of the Coalition was held on 27 April 2007, in the Ombudsman's office. During the meeting the Ombudsman and representatives of the Ministry of Justice and the Nobody's Children Foundation discussed the Coalition's goals and tasks.

In 2007, in the course of the Coalition partners' cooperation with the justice department, standards of child friendly interview rooms were developed.

The Coalition published an expert opinion on legal regulations concerning the protection of children in legal proceedings, drawn up by Anna Wesołowska, a judge in the District Court in Łódź.

The Coalition partners contributed to the implementation of the 2nd edition of the national Child: Witness with Special Needs campaign. Their task was to distribute the campaign publications in their own institutions and among judges, prosecutors, and expert witnesses.

The main platform for communication and information exchange was provided by the www.dzieckoswiadek.pl website, which contains information and articles targeted at professionals participating in legal procedures involving children and parents and caregivers of child witnesses.

Safer Internet Academy

● www.dzieckowsieci.pl, www.sieciaki.pl

tel. (4822) 616 02 68, bezpiecznyinternet@fdn.pl

The Nobody's Children Foundation has worked for improving children and young people's safety online since 2003. Comprehensive research, educational, media, and assistance activities have been conducted within the Safer Internet Academy (SIA) programme.

Actions taken within the Safer Internet Academy are targeted at children, youth, parents, and professionals.

The Nobody's Children Foundation is engaged in several international projects focusing on children's safety online. Since 2005 the Foundation has been the national coordinator of the Awareness project implemented in cooperation with NASK (Research and Academic Computer Network) within the European Commission's programme – Safer Internet Action Plan (SIAP)

The main partner of the majority of projects implemented within the Safer Internet Academy is the TP (Polish Telecom) Group Foundation.

Research

Within the Safer Internet Academy programme, the Nobody's Children Foundation has conducted research into various aspects of the problem of threats to children on the Internet. The studies have been conducted on nonprofit terms by Gemius S.A. The findings provide knowledge about young Internet users' behaviours, experiences, and attitudes, and are helpful in the development of media messages and educational programmes to be implemented within the campaign. The respondents were young Internet users (ages 12–17) and their parents.

In 2007 two research projects were executed (both of them were conducted in January 2007): the first Polish study concerning cyberbullying and a survey of adult Poles who were asked about their experiences concerning illegal content on the Internet.

Campaign Child on the Web

The social campaign Child on the Web was launched in February 2004 by the Nobody's Children Foundation. Its goal is to draw public attention to threats related to the use of Internet by children and to educate children, young people, parents, and professionals on children's safety online.

Since January 2005 the campaign has been carried out within the Safer Internet programme. The main partner of the campaign has been the TP (Polish Telecom) Group Foundation.

Within the Child on the Web campaign, lesson plans concerning children's safety online have been distributed among primary and junior secondary schools across Poland. The lesson plans draw on the storyline of the educational Web project for children www.sieciaki.pl. They are also available in the electronic version (as PDF files) on the campaign website. Their print copies were distributed during training sessions organized within the project. Teachers who conduct classes on children's safety on the Web, send reports and class evaluations to the campaign office.

In 2007 teachers across Poland reported to have conducted classes among more than 33 thousand children (22,831 primary school students, 10,106 junior secondary school students, 472 senior secondary school students, and 150 children in nursery schools).

Moreover, the campaign involved the distribution of high-circulation education resources for children and parents, such as bookmarks, mousepads, stickers, leaflets, and posters promoting the rules of safe Internet use, as well as the projects Sieciaki.pl and Helpline.org.pl.

Between October 2006 and September 2007 more than 42,000 education resources were distributed within the campaign.

In the second half of 2007, the Nobody's Children Foundation and the VA Strategic Communication ad agency collaborated to prepare the next stage of the Child on the Web campaign, focusing on the problem of cyberbullying. A range of campaign materials were developed, including a TV spot, a poster, a print ad, an educational video, and lesson plans. The campaign will be carried out under the slogan Stop Cyberbullying in January–April 2008.

Sieciaki.pl: Educational Website for Children

Sieciaki.pl is an educational service for children run by the Nobody's Children Foundation since February 2005. The project involves also meetings with children, open-air events, concerts, educational sessions and development of cartoons, songs and multimedia materials.

The Sieciaki.pl project pursues the following major goals:

- to educate children on safety on the Internet,
- to educate children on how to use the Web,
- to promote safe Internet use,
- to certify and promote safe websites.

In 2007 www.sieciaki.pl had 24,353 new registered users (altogether, by the end of 2007 there were 77,352 registered users). The website was accessed 3,354,380 million times. Website administrators sent 281 messages and 40 guidelines, and organized 50 competitions.

In 2007 the following resources were developed within the project:

- WWWojna cartoon (circulation: 10,000 copies),
- songs: Hasło (Password), Asertywność (Assertiveness) (W Dobrym Świecie),
- video clip Hasło (W Dobrym Świecie),
- computer game Pokonaj wirusa (Beat the Virus)

Przedszkolaki sieciaki.pl – website for pre-school children

Within the Sieciaki.pl project a service for the youngest children was also developed. On 6 February 2007, on the Safer Internet Day, a new educational website – www.przedszkolaki.sieciaki.pl – was launched. The website focuses on safe Internet use and is targeted at pre-school children.

The Przedszkolaki Sieciaki project was created by the Nobody's Children Foundation and the Egmont Polska publishing house with the goal of educating young children on safety on the Web and to teach them basic concepts and skills related to computers and the Internet. Another goal is to enhance parents' sensitivity to the issue of the youngest Web users' safety.

In 2007 the Przedszkolaki Sieciaki site was visited 253,562 times.

Sieciaki on Holiday

In summer 2007 another edition of the Sieciaki (Web Kids) on Holiday educational campaign was implemented within the Sieciaki.pl project. This project, carried out for the second time, was designed to educate children – through entertainment – on how to react to Web-related threats and how to prevent them. In 2007 the campaign included nine educational picnics: the inauguration event in Warsaw and eight more picnics in popular summer resorts at the sea. The picnics were organized in cooperation with local authorities and cultural centres. Apart from employees of the Nobody's Children Foundation, the organizing team included a group of volunteers – students of educational sciences.

Picnic participants were offered several attractions, including a cyber cafe, an outdoor cinema and numerous games, competitions, and quizzes related to the storyline of the www.sieciaki.pl website. A special attraction of this year's Sieciaki on Holiday campaign was a vintage school bus which served as a stage for a hip-hop band W Dobrym Świecie (In a Good World), whose songs referred to safe Internet use.

The inauguration of this year's Sieciaki on Holiday campaign accompanied the opening event of the "Summer in the City" action (on 27 June 2007 at Pola Mokotowskie – a popular park and walking area in Warsaw). Other educational picnics were held in the following sea resorts:

● Dąbki	– 17 July
● Darłowo	– 18 July
● Jarosławiec	– 19 July
● Ustka	– 20 July
● Łeba	– 21 July
● Jastrzębia Góra	– 22 July
● Władysławowo	– 23 July
● Jastarnia	– 24 July

The picnics were very popular both among school children participating in summer camps and among the youngest citizens of those resorts. The events organized within the Sieciaki on Holiday campaign were attended by nearly 3000 children.

"School without Violence": Picnics

The Nobody's Children Foundation was invited to join the School without Violence programme implemented by a group of regional dailies and the TP Group Foundation in more than 3000 schools across Poland. As part of cooperation with the programme organizers, the Nobody's Children Foundation organized educational picnics on children's safety on the Web in schools which had been most actively engaged in efforts to prevent peer violence. During the picnics children watched films on safe Internet use and took part in presentations and competitions. The 16 picnics organized between October and June were attended by more than 6,600 children.

Safer Internet Day

Since 2005 the Nobody's Children Foundation and NASK have organized Safer Internet Day (SID) within the Safer Internet Programme.

Within the 2007 SID celebrations the Nobody's Children Foundation and NASK organized a conference in the University Library in Warsaw, addressed to media representatives and partners of the Safer Internet programme in Poland. The topics discussed during the conference included the course, achievements, and plans of the Safer Internet programme in Poland, and other initiatives related to improving children's safety online. The conference was broadcast (streamed) live on the Internet. Intensive media coverage of the conference contributed to the popularization of the SID idea.

1st International Conference Keeping Children and Young People Safe Online

On 16–17 October 2007 the Nobody's Children Foundation and NASK organized the 1st International Conference Keeping Children and Young People Safe Online in the Sheraton hotel in Warsaw.

The event was co-organized by a British organization Child Exploitation and Online Protection Centre (CEOP). The conference was held under the patronage of Viviane Reding, Member of the EC responsible for Information Society and Media. The main partner of the conference was the TG Group Foundation.

The conference was organized within the Safer Internet programme and addressed a broad range of issues related to children and young people's safety on the Web. Its goal was to provide the attendees with the latest knowledge concerning both educational efforts and combating illegal content on the Internet. The conference programme included plenary sessions and workshops conducted by recognized Polish and international experts dealing with children's safety online.

The conference was attended by nearly 300 people, including representatives of the education sector, NGOs, the justice system, law enforcement bodies, Internet service and content providers.

Helpline.org.pl

Helpline.org.pl is a joint project of the Nobody's Children Foundation and the TP Group Foundation, co-financed by the European Commission within the Safer Internet Plus programme. The Helpline was launched on 6 February 2007 with the goal of helping children and young people facing threats on the Internet.

From 6 February to 31 December 2007 Helpline.org.pl accepted 1,408 reports. A large number of reports (549) were general questions about Internet safety and the services of Helpline.org.pl (294). 524 reports concerned cyberbullying. Moreover, there were 153 reports concerning children's exposure to harmful content on the Web – pornography, violence – and 116 cases of online grooming. 79 reports concerned young people's computer and Internet addiction, and 55 – personal data theft.

Childhood without abuse – Toward a better child protection system in Eastern Europe

● www.canee.net

tel. (4822) 616 02 68, europawschodnia@fdn.pl

In 2007 the Nobody's Children Foundation continued the programme Childhood without Abuse: Toward a Better child protection system in Eastern Europe. The third consecutive year of the project was devoted to the situation of a child witness in legal procedures.

The Foundation – in cooperation with NGOs from East European countries (Bulgaria, Latvia, Lithuania, Macedonia, Moldova, and Ukraine) – pursued the goal of improving the child protection system through efforts such as raising the competence of professionals responsible for interventions and helping child victims and their families.

Social campaign Child Witness with Special Needs

The participant countries carried out a social campaign targeted at judges, prosecutors, police officers, lawyers, and psychology expert witnesses who are involved in legal interventions in cases of crimes against children. It was aimed at increasing these professional groups' sensitivity to children's special needs in criminal proceedings and improving their skills and competence related to interviewing children.

It was the first such undertaking in the participant countries. Within the campaign, the Polish poster "Your Honour, I am scared" was adapted and published in the partner countries' native languages. The posters were displayed at police stations, in courts, and in prosecution offices.

In Latvia the Polish campaign Child on the Web: You never know who is on the other side was also adapted and carried out, with the goal to improve children's safety online, and especially to protect them against sexual abuse via the Internet.

Publications

The following resources were translated and adapted to the participant countries' legal situations:

I am Going to Court – a book for younger children, designed to prepare them for testifying in court (Bulgarian, Moldovan, and Ukrainian versions, based on the Polish version of 2002).

When a Child is a Witness in Court – a brochure addressed to parents and caregivers of children participating in legal procedures. It provides practical advice for caregivers of children who testify in court as witnesses (Latvian, Lithuanian, and Bulgarian versions, based on the Polish edition of 2003).

Education

Every year national coordinators and professionals from the seven participant countries meet at international conferences that provide opportunities to exchange information and expand knowledge on the problem of child abuse. In November 2007 an international conference Child as a Participant in Legal Procedures in Eastern Europe was organized in Riga, Latvia, under the honorary patronage of the Latvian Ministry for Children and Family. The conference programme included both lectures by international experts and workshop sessions addressing practical aspects of working with child participants in legal procedures. The Conference was accompanied by a site visit at the Centre Against Abuse "Dardedze" in Riga.

In 2007 three national conferences focusing on the issue of child witnesses were also held. The Children Support Centre – a partner organization from Lithuania – organized a conference in Vilnius, attended by 120 professionals: judges, prosecutors, police officers, and psychology expert witnesses. The conference was held in the Lithuanian Ministry of Justice. It was attended by representatives of three government departments: justice, internal affairs, and social affairs, as well as the Children's Ombudsman and the Prosecutor General. Similar conferences were held in Bulgaria and Latvia. In each of the participant countries national experts developed expert opinions on legal regulations concerning the protection of children in criminal proceedings. The opinions focused on the legal analysis of child witness protection and good practices in this field. One of their goals was to identify legal gaps and the potential for supporting child participants in court procedures within the existing legislation.

In 2007 the participant countries organized training and supervision sessions (with local and international experts) to raise the competence of professionals engaged in legal procedures involving children. Karina Dekens of the Dutch Police Academy, a trainer and an expert in interviewing children, met with professionals from all the participant countries during an international conference in Riga. She also conducted training sessions in Lithuania and Latvia.

The idea of child-friendly interview rooms was promoted within the project. Such rooms have already been created in Lithuania, Latvia, and Moldova. Currently a child-friendly interview room is being developed in Bulgaria.

In December 2007 the "Mazowiecka" Child Advocacy Centre hosted a seminar accompanied by a site visit for judges, prosecutors, and representatives of a Bulgarian NGO – SAPI. The guests met with representatives of Polish prosecution offices, the police, courts, and the Nobody's Children Foundation.

Within the programme, a special website has been created and administered – www.canee.net – serving as a platform for experience and information exchange among East European organizations.

Programme for unaccompanied foreign children and victims of child trafficking

- tel. (4822) 616 02 68, [dzieci cudzoziemskie@fdn.pl](mailto:dzieci cudzoziemskie@fdn.pl); [ofiary handlu@fdn.pl](mailto:ofiary handlu@fdn.pl)

In 2007 the Nobody's Children Foundation continued the implementation of the Programme for Unaccompanied Foreign Children and Victims of Child Trafficking. The following actions were taken within the programme:

- Based on an agreement with the Office for Repatriation and Aliens, the Foundation's psychologists and pedagogical counsellors assisted in interviews of unaccompanied foreign children applying for the refugee status in Poland. The interviews were conducted in the child-friendly interview room provided by the Foundation.
- Representatives of the Foundation took an active part in the work of a team formed within the National Programme for Combating and Preventing Human Trafficking, implemented by the Ministry of Internal Affairs and Administration. The Foundation's tasks focused on the development of the Algorithm for supporting and protecting victims of child trafficking, based on other countries' good practices and aimed at developing an effective system of identifying victims of child trafficking and procedures of providing support by appropriate services.

- Within its educational activities, the Foundation provided training on the problem of child trafficking. The training sessions were attended by representatives of such professional groups as: police officers, boarder guards, and social workers. During the training sessions information and educational resources were distributed, including the brochure The Problem of Child Trafficking in Poland and Around the World.

- The Foundation provided consultations for organizations and professionals dealing with unaccompanied foreign children. Professionals contacted the Foundation to seek advice on interventions and legal, psychological, social, and medical assistance. The Foundation provided consultations for police officers, municipal guards and care institutions, as well as for lawyers, translators, social workers, and teachers.

In 2007 two reports were developed within the programme:

- Opinions of police officers and boarder guards on the problem of child trafficking and the situation of unaccompanied foreign children in Poland – a report from research conducted in 2005;
- a report on the situation of foreign children in Polish residential care institutions and foster families. The report analyzes data collected by the Ministry of Labour and Social Policy.

Good Parent – Good Start

- www.dobryrodzic.pl

tel. (4822) 616 16 69, dobryrodzic@fdn.pl

In 2007 the Nobody's Children Foundation launched the programme Good Parent – Good Start: Prevention of Abuse of Children Under 3. The goal of the programme is to protect young children from abuse through supporting their parents and caregivers in parenting without violence – by offering them free access to educational resources and support services.

The actions undertaken within the programme may be divided into two categories: (1) efforts targeted at parents awaiting a child (during pregnancy) and parents with young children; and (2) efforts targeted at professionals who work with children under three.

In March 2007 a pilot programme was launched in Praga Południe – a Warsaw district. In cooperation with local social services and health care centres, the following actions were taken:

- All the social workers and health care professionals who have contact with parents awaiting children or parents with young children (midwives, family and community nurses, paediatricians and general practitioners – 150 people altogether) in the Praga Południe district were trained in identifying child abuse risk factors.
- The Local System for Preventing Abuse of Young Children was started up. The system facilitates identifying and supporting families at risk of child abuse and is based on collaboration between health care professionals, social workers, and the Nobody's Children Foundation.

- Health care professionals and social workers took advantage of supervisions and individual consultations provided by experts from the Nobody's Children Foundation.
- Parents with young children – clients of specialized health care facilities (such as paediatric or gynaecological and maternity clinics) were provided with the "Good Parent" Package which contained educational resources about parenting without violence. The package was distributed among more than 1000 families.
- Parents awaiting a child and parents with young children experiencing care/parenting related difficulties were offered psychological consultations at the Child and Family Centre.

The programme was well received by both parents and professionals who participated in it.

Publishing programme

- tel. (4822) 616 16 69, wydawnictwo@fdn.pl

In 2007 the Nobody's Children Foundation published several resources – books, brochures, posters, leaflets/booklets, stickers, etc. – which have been described earlier, while presenting particular programmes. Moreover, in 2006 the Foundation published four issues of its quarterly, Dziecko krzywdzone. Teoria, badania, praktyka (Abused Child: Theory, Research, and Practice):

No.18: Prevention of Child Sexual Abuse: Treatment of Offenders

No.19: Early Prevention of Child Abuse

No.20: Child: Witness With Special Needs

No.21: Forensic Psychological Assessment in Cases Involving Children

In 2007 the Foundation's quarterly was included in the Ministry of Science and University Education's list of rated journals (in humanities and social science).

Web portal providing knowledge on the problem of child abuse: www.dzieckokrzywdzone.pl

Within its educational programme, the Nobody's Children Foundation has run a web portal providing knowledge on the problem of child abuse: www.dzieckokrzywdzone.pl.

In 2007 the site was visited 200 000 times.

The dzieckokrzywdzone.pl portal is targeted at people interested in the problem of child abuse: professionals, academics, students, journalists, and abused children's parents and caregivers.

The site provides updated information on training, campaigns, actions, legislative changes and publications. It contains articles of Polish and foreign authors, published in the Abused Child quarterly between 2002 and 2007. Apart from that, the site provides access to a directory of institutions and organizations offering assistance to abused children in Poland, a dictionary of terms related to child abuse, links to websites addressing the problem of child abuse, and a calendar of important dates related to this issue. Since 2007 the portal has offered an online discussion forum and published a monthly newsletter.

Research programme

● tel. (4822) 616 02 68, fdn@fdn.pl

The main goal of the Nobody's Children Foundation's research programmes is to assess the prevalence and nature of child abuse and to examine social attitudes toward the problem.

In 2007 the Nobody's Children Foundation, in cooperation with the Warsaw-Praga Child Protection Network (Praska Sieć Pomocy Dzieciom), conducted a survey into teachers' attitudes toward the problem of child abuse: School Against Violence: Raising Primary School Staff's Awareness in the Areas of Prevention and Adequate Responses to Child Abuse. The survey was conducted within the project of developing a local intervention strategy in cases of suspected child abuse. The respondents were primary school teachers from Praga Południe – one of Warsaw districts.

Another survey concerned cyberbullying. It was conducted online by Gemius (a leading online research agency) among children ages 12–17 and adults. The goal of the study was to assess the prevalence of cyberbullying and the public awareness of such threats. The research findings were used for planning the third stage of the Child on the Web social campaign.

Reports from the two studies are available at www.fdn.pl and www.dzieckokrzywdzone.pl.

Social campaign See It, Hear It, Say It

In January 2007 the Foundation launched a social campaign against physical abuse of children: See It, Hear It, Say It. The main goal of the campaign was to enhance Poles' sensitivity to the problem of physical abuse of children and to motivate them to take action when physical abuse occurs. Targeted at adults, the campaign was based on media messages – press, online, and outdoor advertising. A special website, www.zobacz-uslysz-powiedz.pl, was launched, where everyone could find answers to questions concerning physical abuse of children (prevalence, causes, etc.) and ways to reduce the problem (what actions can be taken to protect children, what institutions should be notified about such cases).

For those who would like to intervene in cases of actual or suspected abuse, a special telephone line was launched, where trained consultants provided information on legal procedures and on where to seek psychological, legal, and social support for abused children and their families.

The campaign was inaugurated during a press conference on 18 January 2007. It was developed on non-profit terms by the DDB Warszawa ad agency.

Thanks to the engagement of AMS Polska, a leading outdoor agency, the campaign posters were displayed on more than 500 outdoor carriers in five biggest Polish cities. With support from several press publishers, between January and March 2007 the campaign messages were presented in more than 40 papers and magazines. The campaign was also joined by many radio stations and web portals. More than 100 institutions and organizations all over Poland carried out information campaigns in their communities. More than 200,000 educational and information resources were distributed. The full list of the campaign partners is available at www.zobacz-uslysz-powiedz.pl (the campaign website).

Training programme

- tel. (4822) 616 16 69, szkolenia@fdn.pl

Development and implementation of training programmes and conferences related to the problem of child abuse for various professional groups constitute a significant component of the Foundation's activities. The descriptions of most training courses and conferences have been provided in the sections presenting the Foundation's various programmes. Furthermore, in 2007 the following training series have been conducted:

- A training course on methods of working with sexually abused children, their families and caregivers.

- Training for police officers working at juvenile departments across Poland, organized within 30-hour courses carried out in cooperation with the Police Training Centre in Legionowo.

Apart from that, the Foundation conducted several other training courses for various groups of professionals, such as psychologists, pedagogical counsellors, teachers, social workers, probation officers, prosecutors, and judges. The courses focused on the assessment and treatment of abused children and on approaches to working with child victims of crime.

Master's thesis competition

In February 2008 the 8th edition of the competition for the best master's thesis concerning the problem of child abuse was adjudicated. The jury awarded the following prizes:

- 1st place – Ewa Rostańska for The Role of Questions in Interviewing Child Witnesses, written under supervision of professor Jan M. Stanik in the Psychology Institute of the Silesian University;
- 2nd place – Magdalena Kobyłecka for Sexual Disorders in Women Who Were Sexually Abused as Children, written under supervision of professor Maria Beisert in the Psychology Institute of the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań;

- Special award – Antonina Pieprzyk for Consistency of a Child's Testimony as a Criterion of Its Credibility, written under supervision of professor Szymon Emilia Draheim in the Psychology Institute of the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań.

The 9th edition of the competition for the best master's thesis defended in the academic year 2007/2008 was announced.

Plans for 2008

In 2008 the NCF will continue the following programmes:

In 2008 the Nobody's Children Foundation will continue the Safer Internet Academy programme. In cooperation with the Research and Academic Computer Network (NASK), the Foundation will carry out the European programme Safer Internet Action Plan Plus. Within the programme the 2nd International Conference Keeping Children and Young People Safe Online will be organized. Furthermore, the Foundation will continue its educational activities targeted both at professionals and at the youngest Internet users – another edition of Sieciaki on Holiday will be organized and more training sessions will be provided for teachers and for children about how to use the Web safely. The Foundation is also going to continue the Helpline.org.pl project aimed at improving the protection of children from abuse via the Internet.

In 2008 a national e-learning programme for safe Internet use will be launched. Moreover, from January 2008, within the Child on the Web campaign, the Foundation will carry out the Stop Cyberbullying campaign concerning the problem of peer violence by use of electronic media.

2008 will be another year of implementing the programme Childhood without Abuse: Toward a Better Child Protection System in Eastern Europe in the partner countries. In 2008 the programme will focus on issues related to interdisciplinary help. Within the programme the Coalition for Child-Friendly Interviewing will be formed in Bulgaria.

Within the Protecting Children in Legal Proceedings programme, a network of NGOs and organizations helping child victims will be developed. The 5th National Conference on Helping Child Victims of Crime will be held on 27–28 October 2008.

Training will be conducted for representatives of NGOs, focusing on the arrangement of child-friendly interview rooms. The Child: Witness with Special Needs campaign will be continued.

In 2008 the Good Parent – Good Start programme will be expanded. Apart from individual consultations, workshops on parenting skills and educational meetings for parents will be organized at the Child and Family Centre for Praga district. Educational brochures for parents will be developed and published. Furthermore, a Coalition for Preventing Abuse of Young Children will be formed; its main goal will be to spread knowledge about the problem of abuse of young children.

The Local System for Preventing Abuse of Young Children will be expanded to include other Warsaw districts. Health care professionals and social workers will be encouraged to attend free training courses and conferences on preventing abuse of young children.

As part of the activity of the Association for Protecting Children, a campaign against physical punishment of children will be carried out. This will be an awareness-raising and educational campaign aimed at promoting parenting without violence.

In the second half of 2008, the Child and Family Centre for Praga district will conduct a survey to assess the attitudes and experience related to intervening in cases of child abuse among professionals who work with children (the study will be conducted within the Warsaw-Praga programme of interdisciplinary services for abused children). The Centre will also start a series of training courses for professionals representing various professional groups and supervision sessions for interdisciplinary teams.

In 2008 will continue the following programmes:

- "Mazowiecka" Child Advocacy Centre
- Child and Family Centre for Praga district
- Protecting children in legal procedures
- Safer Internet Academy
- Childhood Without Abuse: Toward a Better Child Protection System in Eastern Europe
- Programme for Unaccompanied Foreign Children and Child Victims of Trafficking
- "Good Parent – Good Start" programme
- Training programme
- Educational programme
- Publishing programme
- Research programme
- Master's thesis competition
